

ABSTRACT

A mechanical pencil that includes a body extending longitudinally along an axis X between a forward writing end and a rear end, and an endpiece situated at the forward end and a lead guide that can be retracted into the endpiece that includes a conduit for the passage of a lead. The mechanical pencil also includes a lead brake made of an elastically deformable material connected to the lead guide.